SECTION OF TEST

Reading: Realia and Prose (30 minutes)	50
Listening: Narratives and Dialogues (about 20 minutes)	33

Sample Listening Questions

These are sample questions for the listening parts of the ELPT. Throughout the test, the listening material will only be spoken once. Therefore, it is important that you listen carefully to what is being said. Now listen to the directions for Part A. Text in brackets [] is only recorded and not printed in your test book.

PART A

Directions: In this part of the test you will hear several short conversations or parts of conversations. You will then hear four responses, designated (A), (B), (C), and (D). After you hear the four responses, choose the one that most logically continues or completes the conversation and mark your answer on your answer sheet. You will hear the conversation and responses only once. They will not be printed in your text book. Now listen to the following example.

You will hear:

[(Woman) Excuse me, where could I buy a newspaper around here?]

You will also hear:

- [(Man)
- (A) That's okay, but please don't do it again.
 - (B) There's a new one just around the corner.
 - (C) They sell them at the drugstore across the street.
 - (D) That isn't a very good excuse!]
- (7 seconds)

The choice that most logically continues the conversation is (C), "They sell them at the drugstore across the street." Therefore, the correct answer to this example is (C). Now the test will begin. Be ready to answer question 1.

1. You hear:

- [(Narrator:)] Question number 1.
(Woman A:) There simply aren't enough hours in the day!
(Woman B:) I know! The other day I came in an hour early and the phone was ringing before I could even get my coat off.
(Woman A:) How could things have gotten so out of hand?
(Woman B:) (A) I don't know, but somehow it has to stop!
(B) Well, whoever it was had hung up.
(C) I don't know, but I'm always dropping things, too.
(D) Well, it didn't stop raining until late afternoon.]

(7 seconds)

2. You hear:

- [(Narrator:)] Question number 2.
(Woman:)] I've heard there is a wonderful exhibit at the Museum of Modern Art. Shall we go there?
(Man:)] Yes, I have a free afternoon. Let's plan on it.
(Woman:)] Okay. Where shall we meet?
(Man:)] (A) I'll be in the lobby at noon to pick you up.
(B) I don't think the plan has been approved yet.
(C) It seems like we've met before someplace.
(D) I heard that exhibit closed last week.]

(7 seconds)

PART C

Directions: You will now hear a series of selections, such as dialogues, announcements, news reports, narratives, etc. You will hear each one only once. Therefore, you must listen very carefully. For each selection, you will see printed in your test booklet one or more questions with four possible answers. They will not be spoken. Choose the BEST answer to each question from among the four choices printed and fill in the corresponding oval on your answer sheet. You will have 12 seconds to answer each question. There will be no example for this part. Now listen to the first selection.

Questions 3–4

You hear:

- [(Narrator:)] Questions 3 and 4. A teacher is offering her class some choices.
(Woman:)] Class, we only have three more weeks before the end of the semester.
(Man A:)] Will there be a final exam?
(Woman:)] You can either do a summary project or take a three-hour essay exam. Each is worth one-third of your final grade.
(Man B:)] Only three weeks for a summary project? That doesn't seem fair!
(Woman:)] It's up to you, but you need to let me know by the end of the week.
(Man A:)] When will the exam be?
(Woman:)] The morning of June third, for those of you who decide to go that way.
(Narrator:)] Now answer questions 3 and 4.]

(24 seconds)

You read in your test booklet:

3. What is the discussion about?
(A) Completion of the course

Questions 5–8

You hear:

- [(Narrator:)] Questions 5 through 8. Listen to the following conversation.
(Woman A:)] (upset) I just found out that one of the most widely circulated and respected daily newspapers in the world is written at an eighth-grade reading level. I find that hard to believe.
(Man A:)] (breezy) Well, think about it. If it's distributed throughout the world, many of its readers are not strong in English.
(Woman A:)] That may be so, although we could probably talk a long time about how much more sophisticated readers are when they have a second language working for them. The fact is that this paper is published in the States for an adult American audience. Very sophisticated people insist on reading it every morning to get them ready for high-powered business days. Surely they expect sophisticated reporting and high-level language.

- (Man A:) Maybe your problem is that you underestimate the maturity of eighth graders.
- (Woman A:) Please! I wish that were true, but I'm more inclined to think that the information I got wasn't the full story. Maybe just the ads are written for eighth graders.

PART B

Directions: Read the following passages carefully. Each passage is followed by one or more questions or incomplete statements. Select the answer or completion that is BEST according to the passage and fill in the corresponding oval on the answer sheet.

Questions 10–12 are based on this reminiscence by a Canadian professor of genetics.

My father was the greatest inspiration and role model for me. It began right from my earliest memories of camping and fishing. My father was never interested in material success, and he was regarded as a bit of a dreamer by his father. But he certainly inspired my great love of nature. When I was about nine, my mother made me a butterfly net and I started an insect collection, a big hobby of mine for years and years. But my love of nature came from fishing and I wanted to be an ichthyologist, a biologist who studies fish.

I met a man from the Royal Ontario Museum who was one of the great naturalists on staff there. He told me, "Look, this is a great hobby to have, but don't go into it to make a living." I often think about him. Here was a man who had what I thought was one of the greatest jobs in the world, a curator in a museum, and he was discouraging me, advising me instead to go into medicine or something to make a living. That was very sad. I always tell young people to go where their heart leads because they'll be doing it for a long time. When I went to college I was basically a pre-med, but in my third year I took genetics because all honors students had to. Once I encountered genetics as an incredibly precise, elegant way of looking at the world, I fell madly in love with it.
